The students were provided with college calendar detailing the names of the faculties to contact if and when required, and also toll free number and email ID for filing the complaint if any. The committee also put up notice in the college premises as per UGC rules depicting the provisions of penal law applicable to incident of ragging and the punishment thereof.

The Committee organized various awareness campaigns to educate the consequences of ragging and the importance of fostering respectful environment. The committee also established a confidential reporting system to encourage students to come forward with any instances of ragging or harassment, ensuring prompt and discreet investigation of complaints. The committee also coordinated with campus security personnel and local law enforcement agencies to enhance surveillance and response mechanisms.

The absence of ragging cases during the reporting period is a validation of the efficacy of the anti-ragging system and the collective efforts of all stakeholders.
